RECOVERED POSSIBLE FOR J. E. REYNOLDS

Deputy Disarmed and Shot by Negro Wilds Second Pistol Fatally.

James E. Reynolds, deputy sheriff, has more than a fighting chance for life, according to attaches of the Baptist Memorial hospital, where the deputy was taken late Saturday after having been shot twice by Joe Turner, negro, who, in turn, was shot and killed by the wounded officer.

Little confidence was expressed Saturday that Reynolds would rally from the operation, which was performed when he arrived at the hospital, about an hour after he was shot. He had suffered from an internal hemorrhage, caused by one bullet which punctured his lower left lung. But he rallied and recovered consciousness a few hours later. The greatest danger now is from pneumonia.

Reynolds attacked the grocery store and lunchroom of Joe Turner and Arthur Ellison, negroes, last Wednesday, at the instance of J. McCallum, for a grocery bill it is alleged the negroes owed him.

Reynolds and McCallum went to the store Saturday afternoon. They found the lunchroom door open, and the officer accused Turner. He drew a pistol on the negro, it is said. McCallum also seized the negro, police reports say.

Then Turner jerked the deputy's pistol from his hand and opened fire. One shot hit Reynolds in the right side, and coursed up to his lung. A second shot struck him in the right side and traveled across the back, coming to the surface on the left side, missing the spine.

Reynolds pulled another pistol, police reports say, and opened fire on Turner. Four bullets found their mark, two in the head and two in the breast, killing Turner instantly. Another bullet struck Turner's partner, Ellison, in the chest, part of the upper left arm, missing his heart by about four inches.

Ellison went immediately to the office of the state's attorney, where he made a statement to W. T. McLain and John Exby, assistant clerks of the court, and sent him to the general hospital for treatment. Ellison's wound was dressed and he is lodged in the city jail for safekeeping, pending investigation of his part in the shooting affray. Authorities are inclined to believe that Ellison took no part in the attack on the deputy, but was struck by a stray bullet.

Mrs. Reynolds has been constantly at her husband's side since he was shot. Reynolds has been a deputy sheriff since last September, when O. H. Perry took office as sheriff. He is attached to the court of Squire John J. McNamara.

GRENADEA BOYS GET ROYAL WELCOME

GRENADEA, Miss., June 23. (Sp.)—There was more good cheer in Grenada Saturday than at any time during the last two years. The cause for it was the return of most of the boys of the company who volunteered to carry the nation's flag and to uphold the honor of the country just after a state of war was declared in 1917. The Grenada company was mustered into service here on Sunday, May 4, 1917.

The company was first sent to Jackson, where they remained from early in August until some time in October, 1917, when it was ordered to Camp Beaumont, where they remained until the latter part of September, 1918.

However, orders had been given for them to move up, and those who ought to be in a position to know state that the war had lasted two weeks longer, they would have been in a tight grasp with the Hun. Since the signing of the armistice the company has been in Camp Valdahon, France, doing service in the army artillery school, and a letter from the commanding officer of the school shows that the Grenada company carried themselves well and proved themselves worthy sons of worthy fathers and mothers.

Everyone who enlisted with the company to come back, a benediction that makes every father and mother breathe a prayer of gratitude to the Ruler of the Universe.

VERSAILLES GETS READY FOR DRAMATIC SESSION

VERSAILLES, June 23. (By the Associated Press.)—Arrangements already have begun to take shape at Versailles for the signing of the peace treaty.

Orders have been given for everything in readiness Tuesday, although the ceremony, according to the Havas agency, is not likely to occur before Thursday at the earliest.

The famous Gallery of Mirrors has been cleared of its furniture and the ornamental table with its 18th century gilt and bronze decorations has been placed in position on the dais where the plenipotentiaries will be seated.

There will be room for 400 invited persons at the historic session. They will be given places in the left wing of the Hall of Mirrors, and the right wing will be occupied by about the same number of press representatives. Sixty seats have been allotted to the British press.

The program of arrangements, as far as they have been settled, was presented to Premier Clemenceau yesterday. The court of honor has been cleared of captured guns. Three regiments of infantry and one cavalry will be on duty at the time of the signing. Republican guards in gala uniforms will render the honors. They will be stationed on the grand staircase by which the plenipotentiaries enter the hall.

According to the Havas agency, diplomatic relations with Germany will not be resumed immediately on the signing of the treaty, but only after its ratification. This also applies to the admission of German subjects into France.

Fronting M. Clemenceau's presidential chair will be placed a table at which the diplomatic instruments will be laid. It will be to this table that each representative is called in alphabetical order to sign his name to the treaty and affix to it his government seal. As there are 100 delegates, the ceremony is expected to take at least 90 minutes.

It is as yet uncertain whether M. Clemenceau will make a speech. It is considered as unlikely that the Germans will raise a last protest at the moment of signing.

ONE'D SUFFERED FOR MANY YEARS

Mrs. Clarkson Often Cried All Night With Rheumatism. Gains 30 Pounds.

"My gain of thirty pounds during the past two weeks is a volume in itself," said Mrs. Catherine Clarkson, of 3440 College street, Kansas City, Mo., recently.

"I had rheumatism for twenty-nine years, and during damp and unsettled weather sharp pains would shoot all through my body. My right knee has been so swollen, stiff and painful during the past two years that I couldn't bend it and had to use a steel brace so I could walk, and many a time I have cried in pain the whole night through. I was badly constipated, lost weight and my general health became very poor."

One day I read of a lady who had been relieved of rheumatism by taking Tanlac, so I began taking it myself. I am now on my fifth bottle and the rheumatism has almost entirely disappeared. I can bend my knee already and the pain is entirely gone. I have been relieved of constipation, my appetite is fine and I am feeling better in every way than I have in many years."

HUNTINGDON, Tenn., June 23. (Sp.)—News has reached here of the instant death of M. L. Chambers, familiarly known as Dude Chambers, at his home near Jackson, Tenn., Saturday evening from a load of hay Saturday evening.

Mr. Chambers was hauling hay from his farm and rickling it near his barn. He pulled up the rick, but heed about two feet of stopping at the desired place, so started up his horses again.

DR. COX DEFENDS SCHULTZ; JURY THINKS HE IS GUILTY

That the jury which heard the T. W. Scholtz case believed it was a planted calendar by means of which the man was to have established for him an alibi, was indicated at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, when a verdict of attempt to violate the age of consent law was returned against Scholtz.

The jurors deliberated about two and one-half hours before returning a verdict. The calendar figured largely in the case. Miss Virginia K. Garfield, one of the nurses who worked for Dr. Willis Campbell, testified that on a calendar in her office she kept a record of the days at which she and two other nurses failed to attend cases at the hospital.

Dr. Cox said that he had seen the calendar, and that it was a calendar of the Central Baptist church in April, about the 25th, she thought.

A calendar was found by Walter I. McDickrick, Sheriff of Davidson county, in the trial, and made an exhibit. It was a root-spotted, yellowed, and apparently had been soaked through with water. Yet the pencilled rings and the dates of the month of April were visible.

Miss Garfield identified the calendar as her property, but declared the record of dates, in which the calendar was used, was not hers. She said she saw the calendar when she last saw the calendar. Scholtz, accused of insulting high school girls on April 17 and 23, McDickrick made reference to a "cooked calendar" in their argument.

Evidently the jury took the view that some one had taken the original calendar from the office, marked a similar calendar to suit what was sought to be proven, placed it where Mr. McDickrick could find it, and then returned it to the office. Having been found in finding it. Having been found in finding it. Having been found in finding it.

Motion for new trial for Scholtz was made by his attorney, Ralph Davidson, following the verdict. Judge J. E. Edwards set the motion for hearing Monday.

The sensational revelations promised by the Rev. Ben Cox, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, were not made Sunday night, as it was announced during the trial they would be. He took his text from the 11th and 12th verses of Matthew, fifth chapter.

These verses are: Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad; for so great is your reward in Heaven; for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

Dr. Cox reviewed the persecutions and shames against Joseph, Daniel, Isaiah, Jeremiah and others.

The "young man," Dr. Cox said, was persecuted by the world, the flesh, and the devil. He was persecuted by the world, the flesh, and the devil. He was persecuted by the world, the flesh, and the devil.

Dr. Cox reviewed the persecutions and shames against Joseph, Daniel, Isaiah, Jeremiah and others.
